The commas, especially this one, suggests a writer of non-North American origin, possibly British. This further suggests that the writer typed the letter himself, rather than had it done by a secretary (as indicated below), unless the secretary was British (unlikely).

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Are the following publications still available and if so the cost including postage.

OSWALD IN NEW ORLEANS
WHITEWASH II
PHOTOGRAPHIC WHITEWASH

Yours faithfully

The dating is typically British. (especially the "th" after 26. Canadians would write Dec. 26, 1973 or 26 Dec. 1973)

No P.E. May listed, although there are several listed as P. May

This seems British to me, not Canadian.

P.E.May. Director

North American English calls for a comma here

PEM/srm

or maybe the secretary is the writer's wife of the same nationality

MY GUESS (PURELY THAT, AND VAGUE) IS THAT IF THIS OUTFIT IS LEGITIMATE, IT'S AN ITINERANT OUTFIT, PERHAPS A SINGLE PRIVATE DETECTIVE WITH NO SECRETARY, ALTHOUGH THE INITIALS AT THE BOTTOM INDICATE THAT THERE IS ONE. NOT NORTH AMERICAN, I THINK, BUT PROBABLY BRITISH.
